Would you like help accessing education, training or employment?

Alana House is an innovative women's project that uses a holistic approach to support women with complex needs. In 2017 we secured funding through Building Better Opportunities to work with women across Berkshire to enable them to break down barriers and access education, training and employment. To be eligible for support you must not currently be in paid employment.

Alana House will:

- help you identify your needs and set goals
- provide support through individual and group work
- put you in touch with other agencies where relevant
